

MAY 1 - RALLY

Queen's Park needs to get the point.

If Bill 30 dies, 33,000 will be wounded.

That's how many health care workers are injured annually in Ontario by needlestick injuries.

Bill 30 would make mandatory the use of safety engineered devices to prevent such injuries.

All parties have voted to support the Bill through two readings.

The problem is, the McGuinty government has stalled the Bill in committee, leaving it to die if not passed before the end of this legislative session.

It's worth 10 minutes to prevent 33,000
injuries a year.

With all party support, this Bill could be passed into law with just 10 minutes of the legislature's time. That's just 10 minutes to prevent 33,000 injuries a year.

OPSEU is asking for a small amount of your time to come to Queen's Park and tell Dalton McGuinty that 33,000 injuries a year is worth a small amount of his time.

We think it's worth the effort.

Don't you?
