

It's about respect.

The strike at the Grey Bruce Health Unit continues.

Unfortunately, the facts speak for themselves.

The Board of Health can afford to spend $20 million on a new office building in Owen Sound.

The Board of Health can afford to give its Medical Officer of Health an average annual pay increase of 14 per cent.

But, the Board of Health says it can't afford a fair wage for 27 women who already earn thousands of dollars less than the average that jobs like theirs pay across Ontario.

It's time the Board of Health stopped punishing people for living and working in Grey Bruce, and showed some respect.

You can help.

These women need your help. Please call the Board of Health, and tell them to do what's right, and end the strike.
