

Smaller classes. More teachers. More faculty time for students.

Everyone agrees this is how to improve community college education. Experts have recommended this approach. Students need it. The provincial government has funded it.

Faculty at Ontario's 24 community colleges are trying to negotiate these improvements, but so far the colleges haven't agreed.

Why is college management risking a strike, when the solution is so obvious?

Ontario's community college faculty
We care about quality education

Ontario Public Service Employees Union